UTILITY

Pacific Control finishes acquisition

Dubai Cloud computing provider Pacific Control Systems yesterday announced the completion of its strategic acquisition of Infotility, a pioneer in grid agents. In a statement, the company said the acquisition brings together two pioneers in using intelligent software agents, known as 'bots', to control and manage engineering systems. It will create a unique capability to deliver smart grid services in real time on a unified platform, one that has been long awaited in the industry.